Why this Conference?

From time to time, we are challenged: are we a leadership organization, in terms of the significance of the number of leaders that we created, and the significance of their impact on our society? Every year, members come and go; have they fully utilized the platform here to develop their leadership potential?

“A good start is half the job done.”

Wait, this is not a conference about induction to AIESEC, nor a conference about functional skills training.

“Embark My Journey” The theme of NLDS 2009

This conference provides a platform for both newcomers and the leadership of this organization to explore more possibilities in developing their own leadership as well as the others' through the AIESEC journey that they created & experienced at the same time. After the conference, they will look at their AIESEC journey from more different perspectives, and live out & create their AIESEC journey with more different ways.

Newbie Track Introduction

Newbie Track is for those who wonder:

“In what ways can I develop my leadership through this platform?”

“How unique my experience can be in shaping my leadership?”

What is my role in shaping my own leadership?

What kind of attitude do I want to have through this experience in my university life?”

And... again... “Is there any other definition/possibility of my own leadership?”

This is not a conference for you to find your leadership, you may not get any answer to your own leadership after the conference, or you may even get more confused about it. Instead, this is a conference for you to experience how you can possibly take an active role in this unique platform to explore & shape your leadership for the rest of your journey with AIESEC or even after AIESEC.

Leader Track Introduction

We all live our AIESEC Experiences for certain reasons. There must be certain intensive moments which made you stay here. One of the hardest parts of team management comes to recreating for your team with these intensive moments which you have experienced.

For those who...

... are current members of the middle management, this conference will equip you with much stronger organizational perspectives which will help you better develop yourself and your team members through AIESEC's unique learning environment.

... are current members of the Executive Board, please be reminded that you are the ones who are ultimately responsible for driving AIESEC Experiences for your respective committees. How are you going to capitalize the network of AIESEC in creating a truly global learning environment?
